The Philadelphia Story

On the eve of her second marriage, socialite and bride-to-be Tracy Lord finds herself in a dizzying dance with four men: her father, fiancée, ex-husband, and an aggressive but charming reporter—all together for her upcoming wedding. As she struggles to retain her equilibrium, Tracy comes to discover the heart beneath her holier-than-thou exterior.

Repertory Company Theatre presents Philip Barry’s comedy The Philadelphia Story, February 11–20, at the Promenade Theatre in Richardson. “Perfect for Valentine’s Day, the show includes the stinging banter, wit and dialogue from the 1940 movie starring Katharine Hepburn,” says Debra Carter, Director.

The cast includes Michelle Breedlove as Tracy Lord and David Johnson as C.K. Dexter Haven, with Jack Agnew, Loree Westbrooks, Linda Ivey, Nora Scott, Chris Edwards, Scott Vollmer, and Darin Fimple. Performance times are Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m. Tickets are $20 adults, $18 seniors, $12 students. ▶ February 11–20 • 972.690.5029 • rcttheatre.com

Classical Mystery Tour: A Tribute to the Beatles

Get ready to twist and shout as the Classical Mystery Tour: A Tribute to the Beatles performs on Saturday, February 26 at the Eisemann Center in Richardson. Since their debut performance at the Orange County Performing Arts Center in Los Angeles, the Classical Mystery Tour has proven to be a hit with both fans and critics all over the world. The Los Angeles Times reported that their performance was “more than just an incredible simulation...the crowd stood and bellowed for more.”

A Classical Mystery Tour performance often includes more than 30 of the Beatles’ most famous tunes played and performed exactly as they were written, including “Penny Lane” and “Yesterday.” Presented by the Plano Symphony Orchestra, advance tickets start at $9; add $2 at the door.
