Bravo Beethoven

The Plano Symphony Orchestra opens the 2009–2010 season on September 26 at 8:15 p.m. at the Eisemann Center with a celebration of famed composer Ludwig van Beethoven. Bravo Beethoven features two of the composer's beloved piano concertos preceded with "Creatures of Prometheus Overture," played by pianist Adam Neiman. The Washington Post reported Neiman's "playing was of wisdom and light befitting an artist in the autumn of his career." His first broadcast with National Public Radio's Performance Today was nominated for a Grammy Award. Tickets are $9–$75.

Little Shop of Horrors

With a lineup of energetic songs and an assortment of zany characters, Little Shop of Horrors will delight anyone with a taste for the unusual. Seymour, a down-and-out, skid-row floral assistant, becomes an overnight sensation when he discovers an exotic plant with a mysterious craving for fresh blood. He is seduced into playing nursemaid, as the plant soon grows into an ill-tempered, foul-mouthed, R&B-singing carnivore.

Repertory Company Theatre stages Little Shop of Horrors September 18–27. Performances are Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. and Sundays at 2 p.m. at the Promenade Theatre in Richardson. Tickets are $25 for adults, $20 for seniors, and $14 for youth.

Menopause the Musical

Four women who seemingly have nothing in common meet in a department store, and the price of being a woman becomes the topic of conversation. Woeful hot flashes, forgetfulness, mood swings, wrinkles, night sweats, and chocolate binges bond the four as they realize menopause is no longer The Silent Passage but a stage in every woman's life that is perfectly normal.

Menopause The Musical is an uplifting 90-minute production written by Jeanie Linders that includes parodies from the '60s, '70s and '80s. It is playing at the Eisemann Center through September 27. Tickets are $45.
